Article 5 of the GDPR requires that personal data shall be:

- (a) Processed lawfully, fairly and in a transparent manner;
- (b) Collected for specified, explicit and legitimate purposes and not further processed in a manner that is incompatible with those purposes;

- (c) Adequate, relevant and limited to what is necessary in relation to the purposes for which they are processed;
- (d) Accurate and, where necessary, kept up to date; every reasonable step must be taken to ensure that personal data that are inaccurate, having regard to the purposes for which they are processed, are erased or rectified without delay;
- (e) Kept in a form which permits identification of data subjects for longer than is necessary for the purposes for which the personal data are processed; and
- (f) Processed in a manner that ensures appropriate security of personal data, including protection against unauthorised or unlawful processing and against accidental loss, destruction or damage, using appropriate technical or organisational measures.
- (g) Protected by design; all procedures and processes need to be designed with data protection in mind. Compliance with legal requirements and good practice needs to be built into the design stage of projects and changes.

3 Definition of Data Protection Terms
